

With more than one million technology professionals in the UK alone, businesses in this evolving industry must constantly review and evaluate their exposures to ensure their insurance policies provide up-to-date and responsive coverage.

Our innovative, market-leading technology insurance solutions offer certainty to customers and the assurance of clearly worded, unambiguous policies that eliminate coverage gaps and grey areas, enabling companies to innovate, grow and succeed.

Who do we insure?

We have a broad risk appetite with capacity of up to £10m for Professional Indemnity cover. Our appetite spans the full technology spectrum, from software-led businesses through to advanced and emerging technologies such as robotics.

We offer flexible, scalable solutions for technology businesses of all sizes, from early-stage start-ups to large multinational corporations, across the following sub-sets:

✓ Software:

Providers of software and digital solutions, covering development, programming, data processing, system design, software consulting, training, and internet-based services.

✓ Hardware:

Organisations focused on the design, manufacture, sale, installation or support of IT equipment, components and peripherals, often alongside value-added services.

✓ Services:

Specialists delivering technology advice and expertise, including consulting, solution design and related technology support services.

✓ Telecommunications:

Operators and resellers supplying communication and data services, including internet access, bandwidth, cable, mobile and long-distance data services.
